SMALL CIVIL WAR AT TISHOMINGO

BATTLE BETWEEN Factions OF CHICKASAW NATIONS.

Six Men Reported Killed—Authority
Of Governor Moseley Given Armed Defense—Insurrectionists at Present on Top—More Trouble Expected—Bad Blood Politically the Cause

Guthrie, O. T., April 18.—Couriers, just arrived here from Tishomingo, the capital of the Chickasaw nation, report that a battle is raging between Governor Moseley and 200 insurrectionists. Six people have been killed and eight wounded, so the report says, and the greatest excitement prevails.

The cause of the trouble is due to bad political blood, which has long pervaded the Chickasaw seat of government, and has existed since the legislature ignored Willis Brown, Charles Brown and Noah McGill, who claimed to have been duly elected sheriffs of the nation, alleging that the legislature did not have authority to reject their claims to such offices. On Tuesday morning Governor Moseley issued orders to all sheriffs, constables, and deputies throughout the nation to report to him at once with arms. When the officers gathered around the house 200 enraged men, headed by McGill and the Brown brothers, rushed from adjoining houses and a deadly riot followed. The names of the dead and wounded could not be ascertained by the couriers owing to the greatest excitement which prevailed.

Governor Moseley and his official retinue escaped by rushing to houses on the outskirts of the town. Moseley has called a special session of the legislature to take action. Tishomingo is now in a terrible state of excitement and white people are fleeing. Another battle is looked for at any moment.

SHOT BY HIS WIFE'S LAWYER.

R. F. Ludlow and D. Z. Gardner Figure in an Affray in Springfield, Ohio.

Springfield, Ohio, April 18.—R. F. Ludlow, superintendent of the Springfield Malleable Iron Works, was shot at three times on the street last night by D. Z. Gardner, a prominent attorney. Ludlow met Gardner on the street with Mrs. Ludlow and asked what it meant. He attempted to grapple with Gardner when the shooting occurred. None of the shots took effect. Ludlow's wife had recently sued him for divorce, but their troubles had been adjusted. A complaint was lodged with the police against Gardner, but at a late hour he had not been arrested. His friends say his meeting with Mrs. Ludlow was a professional one, and that there was nothing improper about it.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt to Marry.
New York, April 18.—Mrs. Willie K. Vanderbilt and Oliver Hazard Perry Belmont will probably be married today, the ceremony taking place somewhere in the environs of London. Few in this city who have known Mrs. Vanderbilt and Belmont will be surprised if this should be so. Gossips have not feared to couple their names in the past, even before Mrs. Vanderbilt obtained her divorce. At one time it was said that Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Belmont were on anything but friendly terms because of this fact. Marble House, Mrs. Vanderbilt's magnificent Newport residence, which was a present from her now divorced husband, is being expeditiously prepared for occupancy and Mr. Belmont's new combination stable is being hurriedly renovated.

Alliance Inquiry in Progress.
Washington, April 18.—Senor Muruaga, the Spanish minister, has received a dispatch from Senor de Lome, the new minister to the United States, dated at Havana, stating that he would arrive in Washington April 25. De Lome's arrival at Havana marks the opening of Spain's official inquiry into the Alliance incident. Senor de Lome has already visited Guantanomo and Santiago de Cuba, but at Havana he will see the commander of the Spanish gunboat which fired on the Alliance and the other parties having information on the subject.

New Counterfeit $5 Bill.
Washington, April 18.—The secret service officials have discovered a new counterfeit $5 national bank note. It is on the Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence, R. I., check letter B, series of 1882; A. W. Wyman, treasurer; B. K. Bruce, register; charter No. 1131 bank No. 182, treasury No. E 12027099, portrait of Garfield. The errors committed in the production of this note are many and glaring.

Uncle Sam After Guatemala.
Washington, April 18.—There was much complaint during the last year of the abuse of American citizens in Guatemala. The department of state has called for explanations from the Guatemalan government, and directed investigations through our consular officers upon which to base demands for indemnity.

Andrew Carnegie's Gift to Pittsburgh.
Pittsburgh, Pa., April 18.—Andrew Carnegie has donated $100,000 to build a monument to Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, of London, England. The monument is to be erected under the triumphal arch at the entrance of the park of 400 acres, which Mrs. Schenley presented to this city and which bears her name.

Trust Refineries Resume Work.
Philadelphia, Pa., April 18.—Sprackels sugar refinery, which has been closed for about two weeks by order of the sugar trust, has started up again. The resumption is looked upon as permanent. The plant is running on nearly full time, but with a reduced force. The refinery at Williamsburg, N. Y., which was closed by the trust at the same time, has also resumed work. The McCallum refinery, which is not controlled by the trust, is running full time.

NEW PENSION DECISION.

Secretary Smith Makes a Ruling on Claims of Minors.

Washington, April 18.—A decision has been rendered by the Secretary of the interior, involving the right to pensions filed by persons after attaining their sixteenth year, for or on account of whom no claim has been made during the period of their pensionable minority as children of a soldier who had died from causes originating in the service and line of duty. This decision is of the greatest importance, involving a great number of pending or rejected claims, and is based on a construction given to the proviso in the limitation clause of the act of March 3, 1879, that pensions shall commence on the date of application, unless the application be filed prior to July 1, 1880; but that its limitation shall not apply to claims by or behalf of insane persons and children under 16 years of age. The secretary, in his decision, holds that the clause "children under 16 years of age" is descriptive of a class of claims, the title to which accrues to the claimant by reason of being under the age of 16 at the death of the father from causes originating in the service and line of duty; and the claims of that class are excepted from the limitation act of March 3, 1879, and are not forfeited by neglect to file the application during the period of pensionable minority.

BRIBERY FUND AT ALBANY.

Said to Have Been Raised to Grease the Way for Firemen's Salary Bill.

New York, April 18.—The most sensational political story published in New York in many months is given prominence in the columns of the Press (rep.) this morning. The Press charges that a corruption fund of $45,000 has been raised within the fire department of this city for the purpose of "oilizing" the way for the firemen's salary bill, now under consideration in the legislature. In order that there may be no misunderstanding of the matter the Press gives the name of the man who handled the money. It goes further and gives the names of three senators who were best cared for in the deal and openly charged them with bribery and corruption. It also gives the names of other legislators who have been suspiciously friendly toward the bill. A similar bill benefitting the police force passed the last legislature, and it is said that it netted certain legislators $75,000.

For "Sound" Money.

Chicago, April 18.—"Sound" money democrats started the fight in Cook county against free silver at a meeting held in the Great Northern hotel yesterday afternoon. There were a score of representative members of the party at the meeting. They appointed a committee to formulate a plan of campaign. The meeting was called by invitations sent out Tuesday evening over the signatures of Washington Hesing, W. T. Baker, and Henry W. Robbins. These were addressed to twenty-five of the most prominent democrats in the city who were known to be opposed to free silver.

Picture Made by Telegraph.

San Francisco, Cal., April 18.—The first successful experiment in long-distance telegraphing of pictures was made by the Call last night, when an outline picture of the entry of the queen of the fiesta at Los Angeles was wired from the latter place to this city. The experiment was successful. Chas. Willoughby of this city is the inventor. A good picture can be sent at the cost of sending 250 words and in about equal time.

Breckinridge Will Run.

Lexington, Ky., April 18.—W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Madeline Pollard fame, will become a candidate for the United States senate and thus get even with Senator Blackburn, who helped to defeat him in his memorable fight for renomination to congress. C. J. Bronston, a Breckinridge man, who is invincible as a candidate for state senator, says he has received a petition signed by 233 Breckinridge supporters asking him to run.

No Writ of Error for Dr. Buchanan.

Washington, April 18.—Chief Justice Fuller, in the United States supreme court, denied the application of Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, the New York wife murderer, for a writ of error. The court departed from its usual custom, which is to announce decisions only on Monday, for the reason that Buchanan is now under sentence of death by electrocution, during the week beginning Monday next.

Silverites Active in California.

San Francisco, April 18.—The silverites are actively at work forming a straight-out silver party in this state. They propose to make the coming of A. J. Warner, president of the national committee of American bimetallism party; Congressman J. C. Sibley of Pennsylvania and Senator Stewart of Nevada, the occasion for a general concentration of sympathizers in one distinct movement.

American Steamer Fired On.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 18.—A strange report has been received here. It is that the steamer Barnstable, from Boston, for Port Antonio, was fired on Grand Ague by the British cruiser Canada. It is said the Barnstable stopped and was boarded by British officers. No reason was given for this action and none of the details have been received.

Little Hope of Recovery.

CALLS HAYTI DOWN WITH FEW WORDS

SECRETARY GRESHAM TAKES VIGOROUS STEPS.

Attempts to Impose a Discriminating Tax on American Residents Checked—Chinese Peace Proceedings—Japan Reduces her Demand—Umra Khan Ready to Run.

Washington, April 18.—The state department has checked in its incipency an attempt made by the Hayti government to impose a discriminating tax upon American citizens and other foreigners residing in Hayti. The proposition was under consideration as long ago as August, 1893, and a bill had been framed by the government to that effect, when the matter was reported to Secretary Gresham by Mr. Durham, then United States minister. Secretary Gresham immediately entered a most vigorous protest, pointing out that the proposed law would be in direct conflict with the treaty, which guaranteed that Americans should not be subjected to any tax not imposed upon Haytiens. Thereupon, according to the American's minister's statement, the government abandoned its contemplated action.

INDEMNITY $150,000,000 GOLD.

Japan Has Now Reduced Its Demands —Will Occupy Port Arthur.

Washington, April 18.—The Chinese imperial edict is accepted among officials and diplomats here as setting at rest the conflicting reports as to final terms of peace, and as showing that the first reports via London were inaccurate in their details. The indemnity of 200,000 taels is a compromise. Japan first demanded 300,000 taels, but, on the solicitation of Prince Li, threw off 100,000. At the Chinese legation it is stated that the tael varies in value, but that the present value of the customs on treasury tael, which is undoubtedly the one in which payment will be made, is $1.50 in Mexican silver, or about 75 cents in gold. This would make the indemnity equal to $300,000 Mexican silver or $150,000,000 in gold. The Mexican trade dollar is the current coin of China, and the basis of calculation, so that the belief is very strong, though information on the subject is lacking, that the payment will be in silver.

Umbra Khan Ready to Run.

Calcutta, April 18.—A dispatch from Simla says Sir Umra Khan has informed Sir Robert Low, the commander of the British expedition advancing on Chitral, that if the British advance any farther he intends to flee from the country. Spaniards at Santiago de Cuba Greet Him with Military Honors.

Santiago de Cuba, April 18.—Gen. Martinez Campos, accompanied by Gen. Dupuy de Lome, the new Spanish minister to the United States, arrived here at 5 o'clock yesterday evening. The forts and Spanish warships and the British warship Mohawk fired a salute in his honor, and shortly after his arrival a reception committee composed of Gen. Le Chambray, Gen. J. J. Moreno, chief of staff, and the archbishop of Santiago, boarded the vessel and greeted the general and Minister de Lome.

After the exchange of courtesies Gen. Campos and Senor de Lome were taken ashore in a rowboat. The neighboring wharves were crowded with people. The party was conducted to carriages and driven under military escort to the cathedral, where mass was celebrated. The plaza and the streets were elaborately decorated with bunting, and several handsome arches added to the general effect. Subsequently Gen. Campos reviewed the troops at the government building.

Ran Into a Washout.

Richmond, Va., April 18.—Train No. 35, which left Richmond at 7:13 last night over the Atlantic Coast line, was wrecked on the Northwestern road, within about six miles of Florence, S. C., early this morning. A washout was the cause of the accident and two sleeping cars were burned. No one was seriously hurt, however. Only the baggage master, so far as can be learned, was hurt.

Brave knights and fair ladies danced the hours away at the armory last evening and when the last strain of the final waltz echoed through the room they all voted that they had enjoyed an exceptionally pleasant evening. The affair was the banquet and ball given the visiting delegations by Janesville Commandery No. 2 and was the closing feature of the gathering of the Knights' Templar for the annual district inspection which occurred yesterday, and no stone had been left unturned that would have helped to make the occasion an enjoyable one. Supper was served from 7 to 8 o'clock, small tables being set in the main hall and covers laid for one hundred and fifty guests. Prof. Huykes orchestra rendered concert music while the banquet was being served, thereby adding much to the enjoyment. At 8:30 the floors was cleared for the dancers and until 12:30 they enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. The armory was very tastefully decorated with flowers, the musicians stand being one bank of blooms, while the windows were draped with curtains. The attendance was confined to the members of the various commanderies and their ladies, and the visiting Knights were loud in their praise of the way in which the local Templars entertained.

PHYSICIANS WATCH DR. FLINT

Rockford Medical Men Are Trying to Trip Him Up

The Flints are having a great time at Rockford these days. Dr. Dunn and Dr. Boyd, two Forest City physicians, are "after Prof. Flint's scalp" and watched the "rock breaking act" closely. When Miss Flint had been placed in the cataleptic state, both physicians examined her carefully, stating that her pulse registered 102. The act was then completed, the stone being broken, and Miss Flint was restored to her natural condition, her pulse then showing 88 beats.

Dr. Dunn acknowledges that he can not tell how the act is done, but still insists that the mind of Prof. Flint does not control the mind and body of Miss Flint to such an extent as to make the act all it appears to be.

Prof. Flint offers to place his daughter in contest with any athlete in holding a similar weight, and in that way shows that he has the powers which he claims. He offers to place $100 on the result, the $200 to be given to the city hospital.

AND THE BAND PLAYED CRAPS

Now Josh Sprucey Can Buy Them All New Instruments

When Uncle Josh Sprucey played in Janesville a few weeks ago his band blew all kinds of horns. The band was a good one and consequently made good music. If the members had confined themselves to playing horns they would have been all right yet, but at Marinette they went a step further and began to play craps. Music and craps didn't mix, but the members of the band did. The "fit" all over their private car; the bass viol was demolished, the snare drum was broken in and the bass drum lost one of its heads. Several horns were also cut up so that they could not be used, and the porter swept up the pieces on a large dustpan.

GOLDEN EAGLES WERE BEATEN

The Beloit College Nine Were Too Strong For Them

The Golden Eagles base ball club played the nine of the Beloit college at the Line City yesterday and were defeated by a score of 12 to 4. The Beloits made nine runs in the first two innings after which the Eagles got down to business and held the college boys down to three more tallies. The Eagles hardly expected to win as this was the first game they had played together this year. It is expected that the college nine will play a return game here April 24.

The batteries yesterday were Aikens and Sullivan for the Eagles and White and Hollister for the Beloits.

HALL'S RESOLUTION FINALLY ADOPTED

MATTER CAME UP IN THE ASSEMBLY TODAY.

Bashford's Corrupt Practice Bill Reconsidered and Killed—Proposition Received From Minnesota In Regard Annexation—Thanks For the Speaker.

Madison, April 18—The assembly adopted resolutions of thanks to Speaker Burroughs, Chief Clerk Nowell and all the other clerks this morning. The vote by which Bashford's corrupt practice bill was passed last night, was reconsidered, and the vote was killed. The communication from the legislature of the state of Minnesota, proposing the annexation of the territory west of the Brule and St. Croix rivers, including the city of Superior, and asking the legislature of Wisconsin to appoint commissioners to confer with those of Minnesota, was referred to a committee.

The matter of Mr. Hall's report as chairman of the committee to investigate the earnings of railroads, came up this morning. Mr. Hall and W. A. Jones, a majority of the committee, said that the report presented figures taken two years ago, and they wanted the attorney general to thoroughly investigate the matter according to the resolutions offered by them. J. R. Mahoney objected to the resolution as reflecting on the railroads. Mr. Conway said a vote against resolution meant that the members did not care whether the railroads paid a tax or not and that justice to the railroads and the people demanded it. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 46 to 33.

In the assembly the library bill was passed under suspension of the rules by a vote of 55 to 32. It provides for $60,000 for a building on the University Campus for the sole use of the Historical society with a provision for a loan from the trust funds and the immediate commencement of the work. Mr. Kimball voted against the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Senator Austin cast the vote that killed the Baxter anti-pass resolution after the senate had refused to adopt the report of the committee to indefinitely postpone it.

Senator Mills offered a resolution in response to the Minnesota resolution for the annexation of Superior, by a resolution for the annexation of Duluth to Wisconsin which was passed under suspension of the rules.

The senate refused by a vote of 20 to 8, to indefinitely postpone Mr. Buckstaff's bill compelling companies to pay for franchises received from cities and terminating the present franchises at the end of twenty-one years and advanced it to a third reading.

Two bills fixing the rates charged by express companies, introduced by Mr. Buckstaff and Senator McGeehan were killed.

The bill providing that no more normal schools be established in this state was also killed after a debate.

BENEATH A BURDEN OF SORROW

Dr. George Coon.

Dr. George Coon for seventeen years a resident of Janesville died at Weedsport, N. Y., Wednesday, April 3, aged seventy-nine years. A Weedsport paper says: "Weedsport lost a most estimable citizen in the death of Dr. Coon. Some forty years ago he was the leading physician in this section, having a very large ride, with an extensive practice. As a consulting physician his opinion was frequently sought. His success was marked and he was eminent in his profession.

"In 1869 he moved to Janesville, Wis., where he remained seventeen years, when he came back to Weedsport and spent the remainder of his days.

"He was the first president of the Rural cemetery, had been president of the village, was a republican in politics, a Master Mason and a member of the presbyterian church. An upright honorable man is gone.

"He leaves a widow and a sister, his only relative, a Mrs. Eggleston of Skaneateles, to mourn for him."

CHAPTER II.

The cabin of Major Overstone differed outwardly but little from those of his companions. It was the usual structure of logs, laid lengthwise and rudely plastered at each point of contact with adobe, the material from which the chimney, which entirely occupied one gable, was built. It was pierced with two windows and a door, roofed with smaller logs and thatched with long half cylinders and spruce bark. But the interior gave certain indications of the distinction as well as the peculiar experiences of its occupant. In place of the usual bunk or berth built against the wall stood a small folding camp bedstead, and upon a rude deal table that held a tin washbasin and pail lay two ivory handled brushes, combs and other elegant toilet articles, evidently the contents of the major's dressing bag. A handsome leather trunk occupied one corner, with a richly caparisoned silver mounted Mexican saddle, a mahogany case of dueling pistols, a leather hatbox locked and strapped, and a gorgeous gold and quartz handled ebony "presentation" walking stick. There was a certain dramatic suggestion in this revelation of the sudden and hurried transition from a life of ostentatious luxury to one of hidden toil and privation and a further significance in the slow and gradual destruction and degradation of these elegant souvenirs. A pair of silver boot hooks had been used for raking the hearth and lifting the coffee kettle. The ivory of the brushes was stained with coffee. The cut glass bottles had lost their stoppers and had been utilized for vinegar and salt. A silver framed hand mirror hung against the blackened wall. For the major's occupancy was the sequel of a hurried flight from his luxurious hotel at Sacramento—a transfer that he believed was only temporary until the affair blew over and he could return in safety to browbeat his accusers, as was his wont. But this had not been so easy as he had imagined. His prosecutors were bitter, and his enforced seclusion had been prolonged week by week until the fracas which ended in the shooting of the sheriff had apparently closed the door upon his return to civilization forever. Only here was his life and person secure. For Wynyard's Bar had quickly succumbed to the domination of his reckless courage, and the eminence of his double crime had made him respected among spendthrifts, gamblers and gentlemen whose performances had never risen above a stagecoach robbery or a single assassination. Even criticism of his faded luxuries had been delicately withheld.

He was leaning over his open trunk—which the camp popularly supposed to contain state bonds and securities of fabulous amount—and had taken some letters from it when a figure darkened the doorway. He looked up, laying his papers carelessly aside. Within Wynyard's Bar property was sacred.

It was the late fugitive. Although some hours had already elapsed since his arrival in camp and he had presumably refreshed himself inwardly, his outward appearance was still disheveled and dusty. Brier and milkweed clung to his frayed blouse and trousers. What could be seen of the skin of his face and hands under its stains and begrimed was of a dull yellow. His light eyes had all the brightness without the restlessness of the mongrel race. They leisurely took in the whole cabin, the still open trunk before the major, and then rested deliberately on the major himself.

"Well," said Major Overstone abruptly, "what brought you here?"

"Same as brought you, I reckon," responded the man almost as abruptly.

The major knew something of the half breed temper, and neither the retort nor its tone affected him.

"You didn't come here just because you deserted," said the major coolly. "You've been up to something else."

"I have," said the man, with equal coolness.

"I thought so. Now, you understand, you can't try anything of the kind here. If you do, up you go on the first tree. That's rule 1."

"I see. You ain't pertickler about waiting for the sheriff here, you fellers."

The major glanced at him quickly. He seemed to be quite unconscious of any irony in his remark and continued grimly, "And what's rule 2?"

"I reckon you needn't trouble yourself beyond No. 1," returned the major, with dry significance. Nevertheless he opened a rude cupboard in the corner and brought out a rich, silver mounted cut glass drinking flask, which he handed to the stranger.

"I say!" said the half breed admiringly. "Yours?"

"Certainly."

"Certainly now—but before, eh?"

Rule No. 2 may have indicated that references to the past held no dishonor. The major, although accustomed to these pleasantries, laughed a little harshly.

"Mine always," he said. "But you don't drink?"
The half breed's face darkened under its grime. "Wot yo're givin us? I've been filled chock up by Simpson over thar. I reckon I know when I've got a load on."

"Were you ever in Sacramento?"
"Yes."
"When?"
"Last week."
"Did you hear anything about me?"
The half breed glanced through his tangled hair at the major in some wonder, not only at the question, but at the almost childish eagerness with which it was asked.

"I didn't hear much of anything else," he answered grimly.
"And—what did they say?"
"Said you'd got to be took anyhow. They allowed the new sheriff would do it too."

The major laughed. "Well, you heard how the new sheriff did it—skunked away with his whole posse before one-eighth of my men. You saw how the rest of this camp held up your nine troopers and that saphead cub of a lieutenant, didn't you? You wouldn't have been standing here if you hadn't. No. There isn't the civil process nor the civil power in all California that can take me out of this camp."

But neither his previous curiosity nor present bravado seemed to impress the ragged stranger with much favor. He glanced sulkily around the cabin and began to shuffle toward the door.

"Stop! Where are you going to? Sit down. I want to talk to you."

The fugitive hesitated for a moment and then dropped ungraciously on the edge of a campstool near the door. The major looked at him.

"I may have to remind you that I run this camp, and the boys hereabouts do pretty much as I say. What's your name?"

"Tom."
"Tom? Well, look here, Tom! D— it all! Can't you see that when a man is stuck here alone, as I am, he wants to know what's going on outside and hear a little fresh talk?"

The singular weakness of this blighted command and appeal apparently struck the fugitive curiously. He fixed his lowering eyes on the major as if in gloomy doubt if he were really the reckless desperado he had been represented. That this man—twice an assassin and the ruler of outlaws as reckless as himself—should approach him in this half confidential way evidently puzzled him.

"Wot you wanter know?" he asked gruffly.

"Well, what's my party saying or doing about me?" said the major impatiently. "What's The Express saying about me?"

"I reckon they're throwing off on you all round. They allow you never represented the party, but worked for yourself," said the man shortly.

Here the major lashed out. A set of traitors and hirselings! He had bought and paid for them all. He had sunk $2,000 in The Express and saved the editor from being horsewhipped and jailed for libel. Half the cursed bonds that they were making such a blanked fuss about were handled by these hypocrites, blank them! They were a low lived crew of thieves and deserters. It is presumed that the major had forgotten himself in this infelicitous selection of epithets, but the stranger's face only relaxed into a grim smile. More than that, the major had apparently forgotten his desire to hear his guest talk, for he himself at once launched into an elaborate exposition of his own affairs and a specious and equally elaborate defense and justification of himself and denunciation of his accusers. For nearly half an hour he reviewed step by step and detail by detail the charges against him, with plausible explanation and sophistical argument—always with a singular prolixity and reiteration that spoke of incessant consciousness and self abstraction. Of that dazzling self sufficiency which had dazzled his friends and awed his enemies there was no trace. At last even the set smile of the degraded recipient of these confidences darkened with a dull, bewildered disgust. Then, to his relief, a step was heard without. The major's manner instantly changed.

"Well," he demanded impatiently as Dawson entered.

"I came to know what you want done with him," said Dawson, indicating the fugitive with a contemptuous finger.

"Take him to your cabin."

"My cabin! Him?" ejaculated Dawson, turning sharply on his chief.

The major's light eyes contracted, and his thin lips became a straight line. "I don't think you understand me, Dawson, and another time you'd better wait until I've done. I want you to take him to your cabin and then clear out of it yourself. You understand? I want him near me and alone."

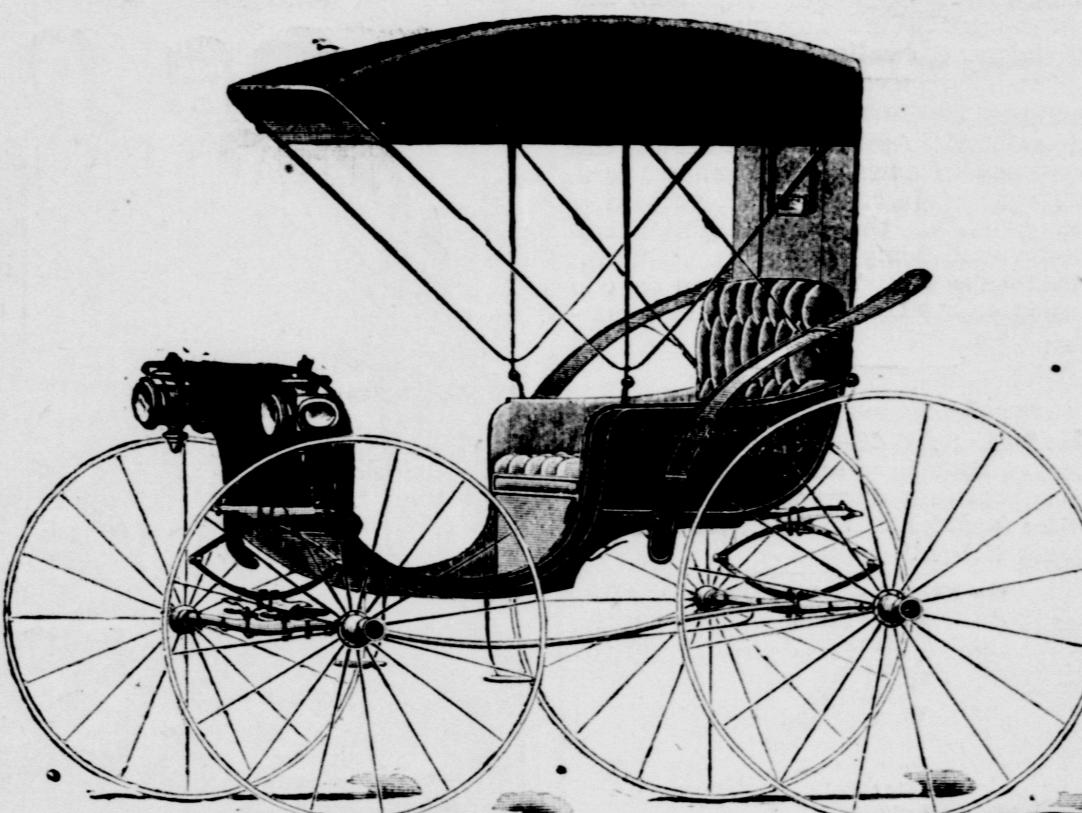

Dawson was not astonished the next morning to see Major Overstone and the half breed walking together down the gully road, for he had already come to the conclusion that the major was planning some extraordinary reprisal against the invaders that would insure the perpetual security of the camp.

That he should use so insignificant and unimportant a tool now appeared to him to be quite natural, particularly as the service was probably one in which the man would be sacrificed. "The major," he suggested to his companions, "ain't going to risk a white man's skin when he can get an Injin's hide handy."

The reluctant, hesitating step of the half breed as they walked along seemed to give some color to this hypothesis. He listened sullenly to the major as he pointed out the strategic position of the Bar. "That wagon road is the only approach to Wynyard's, and a dozen men along the rocks could hold it against a hundred. The trail that you came by over the ridge drops straight into this gully, and you saw what that would mean to any blanked fools who might try it. Of course ya could be shelled

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1731—William Williams, "signer" for Connecticut, soldier, etc., born in Lebanon, Conn.; died there 1811.
 1775—Paul Revere's famous ride out of Boston to arouse the patriots. Revere was an active, public spirited colonist and served in the British colonial forces against France. He was an ardent patriot, member of the Boston "tea party" and also of a society which acted secretly in the interests of Hancock, Adams and other Revolutionary leaders. During the war he served the cause as a soldier and also with his mechanical talent. Two of his grandsons served in the civil war, and one was killed at Gettysburg.
 1847—Battle of Cerro Gordo; General Winfield Scott defeated General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna.

1857—Hon. William Rufus King, vice president of the United States, died; born 1786.
 1868—Roscoe Conkling died in New York; born 1828.
 Dr. Cornelius R. Agnew died in New York; born 1830.

TRADE IN ITALY

Wallace S. Jones, consul-general at Rome, gives some valuable statistics in the last Consular Report, concerning the revival of trade in Italy.

The exports of new silk showed an increase of one and one-half million pounds, in 1894; of grain and oats twenty-five thousand tons; of rice three thousand tons; of flour 250,000 barrels; of cattle, 30,000 head. Poultry, eggs, cheese and butter are also coming rapidly to the front.

The principal markets of Italy are Germany, France and England, and her increase of exports last year was due largely to the embargo placed upon American products through retaliation, on account of democratic stupidity.

The New York Tribune suggests that there is only one wise thing for President Cleveland to do with the income tax, and that is to suspend the enforcement of the act as practical impossibility, under existing circumstances, and a gross injustice also, declaring that, until congress can determine whether to retain or how to amend it, he takes the responsibility of deferring all steps to collect that tax. He could then call congress together, or wait until December, as he might think best. This would be a practical solution of the vexed question and would doubtless give very general satisfaction.

The populists, who originated the law, could not object, for the corporations, and individuals that they desired the most to reach have been let out by the supreme court decision. The president by this act would simply be anticipating what the next congress will do with the obnoxious law when that body assembles in December.

A reader of The Gazette suggests that Iowa has as many free silver republicans as democrats. Iowa is capable of producing almost anything. Like Kansas and Nebraska the state has been colonized with all sorts of freaks. They succeeded years ago in bankrupting every railroad in the state except the great trunk-lines. The same element made a farce of prohibition, and established a wagon train across the state for the Coxey army last summer. Iowa is a good state, but her population is learning some things by experience. There will be less free silver advocates in the state when the next campaign opens, than there are today.

During nine months of last year Switzerland imported 52,399 head of beef cattle. Of this amount Austria-Hungary 6,799, while the United States furnished only 226 head. Eugene Germain, the consul suggest that with a little effort on the part of our cattlemen, America could secure the entire trade.

The bonded debt of the Central Pacific railroad is $70,000,000 and of the Union Pacific $55,000,000. No wonder the government is at a loss to know what to do with two insolvent roads having a debt of $125,000,000.

America has a standing army of 30,000 men, while Europe collectively has an army of three and one-half millions.

Newfoundland has a fleet of 1,800 vessels, and gives employment to 30,000 seamen.

His Years.

"I do not doubt that you are a young man of talent and versatility, as your recommendations set forth," said the patent medicine manufacturer, "but I am unable to offer you anything in the way of a position—but stay!" He whirled quickly around in his revolving chair.

"I will give you four hundred dollars in gold for an appropriate and expressive substitute for the phrase, 'that tired feeling,' to be used in our bona fide testimonials."—Truth.

Flat-House Reciprocity.

"Have you any babies that cry all night?" asked a wild-eyed man at the foundling asylum.

"Plenty of them, sir," was the answer; "but why do you want one that cries?"

"For revenge," replied the applicant.

"The family in the flat above ours has a piano."—N. Y. World.

Not in Her Set.

"Will you walk into my parlor?" said the spider to the fly:
 But the insect only tossed her head and tossed it very high.
 "Why, no," she said, with hauteur; "your style with mine won't run;
 Your dining and reception rooms are, vulgarly, in one."

—Puck.

WILLING TO COMPROMISE.

Effie—Please, Uncle Arthur, do come and play chess with me.

Uncle Arthur—Oh, Effie! Don't you remember? It's Sunday.

Effie—Well—we can let the bishop win.—Pall Mall Budget.

In Practice.

"The hardest thing to acquire, miss," said the dramatic tea-vari, "is the art of laughing naturally w/out apparent effort."

"Oh! I've got that down fine," said the would-be soubrette. "I typewrote for three years for a man who was always telling me funny stories about his little boy."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Dark Secret.

Hunker—I think Miss Elder's mind must be burdened with unpleasant thoughts, judging from her looks.

Spats—You are right. There is something in her past to which she studiously avoids alluding.

Hunker—What is it?

Spats—Three and a half decades.—Judge.

A Question of Expense.

"How will you have your eggs cooked?" asked the waiter.

"Make any difference in the cost of 'em?" inquired the cautious customer with the brimless hat and faded beard.

"No."

"Then cook 'em with a nice slice of ham," said the customer, greatly relieved.—Chicago Tribune.

Willing to Compromise.

Footpad (stopping citizen)—Here, now! shell out, or I'll—

Citizen (drawing a revolver)—Oh, you will, eh?

Footpad—Um—well let's compromise. If you'll give me five dollars I'll promise not to tell the police that you're carrying concealed weapons.—N. Y. Weekly.

Always in Sight.

Nodd—You say your baby is nine months old and hasn't cut a tooth. Are you sure?

Todd—Well, I guess so. There is plenty of opportunity to see them if they were there.—Brooklyn Life.

A Charity Concert.

Wiggle—Why did they call it a charity concert, do you think?

Waggle—I don't know. Possibly because it is so often necessary to be charitable toward the performers.—Somerville Journal.

His Assurance.

Nervous Old Lady—Now, you'll be careful going down; won't you, young man?

Elevator Boy—Oh, you needn't be afraid, ma'am. I ain't killed anybody yet this week.—Judge.

Not a Boy.

Little Ethel—I stopped into Mrs. Brickrow's to see her new baby.

Mamma—Did you? It's a boy baby, isn't it?

Little Ethel—Oh, no, I guess not. It's real sweet.—Good News.

Good as Some Others.

The following stanza has been carved on a tombstone in Burlington, Ia.:

Beneath this stone our baby lies;
 He neither cries nor Hollers;
 He lived just one-and-twenty days
 And cost us forty dollars.

Took It Back.

Tom Singleton—I hear you're engaged. Congratulate you, my boy!

Benny Dietus—You didn't hear it quite right. I'm married.

Tom Singleton—Oh! Excuse me, old man.—Puck.

The One Exception.

Mrs. Nuwed—Our landlord thinks of nothing but the rent.

Nuwed—You wrong him, my dear. I'm sure he never thinks of the rent in the roof.—Judge.

No Nonsense.

"Bless him," she mused. "There's none of the new man nonsense about him." With a tender smile she watched her husband as he sang the children to sleep.—Detroit Tribune.

KNEFF &amp; ALLEN'S.

Joliet and the Drainage Question.

Joliet, Ill., April 18.—The citizens of Joliet held a meeting last night to consider the Chicago sewage question. The matter was thoroughly discussed, but nothing definite was decided upon, only that the citizens of Joliet are wide awake on this drainage question, and will protest against any movement that will injure the valley people.

TWO PEOPLE HURT IN THE SAME WAY

HORSES KICKED THEM BOTH IN THE FACE.

WALTER BRITT of the Town of Janesville, and Arthur Churchill of the Town of Porter, Painfully Injured Yesterday—John Read Laid Up by a Kick in the Side.

A horse stepped on Walter Britt's face yesterday afternoon, and inflicted painful injuries. Mr. Britt lives on section twenty, town of Janesville, his home being five miles from the city. Yesterday afternoon he was leading a horse to water when the animal lunged ahead, throwing Mr. Britt to the ground. The horse then began a series of gymnastics, and before Mr. Britt could scramble to his feet and get out of the way, stepped on Mr. Britt's face.

The iron-shod hoof, backed by the horse's weight, cut several deep gashes in Mr. Britt's face that bled very freely. Mr. Britt succeeded in reaching the house, and a boy was put on a horse and sent to Janesville post haste for Dr. J. F. Pember. The doctor and George King made quick time to the Britt house and found that Mr. Britt's injuries, while not really dangerous unless blood poisoning set in, were very painful. A piece had been gouged out of his upper lip and a long gash cut over his eye while numerous smaller cuts and bruises had been inflicted. Seven stitches were taken in the longest gash and Mr. Britt was made as comfortable as possible but it will be some time before he recovers entirely.

Another Similar Accident.

Arthur Churchill of Porter, picked up the senseless form of his little four-year-old son whom he found lying in the barn yard last night. The little boy's face and head were cut in a shocking manner and blood was flowing from the deep cuts. The little boy had strayed into the barn yard where a number of horses were kept, and it is supposed he got too close to a horse's heels and received a kick in the face, the prints of the horse's hoof being plainly traced. Messengers were dispatched to the city for surgical aid, and Dr. C. L. Clark hurried to the home. Seven stitches were required to close one of the cuts, while there were a number of other cuts requiring from one to three stitches.

John Read of LaPrairie, who is well known in this city, was in town today having his wounds dressed. He was leading a vicious horse on his La Prairie farm when the animal suddenly kicked, striking Mr. Reed square in the side. Dr. Pember dressed the wounds. Although no bones were broken several of his ribs were injured.

"Adolphus," said the new girl, in tones of strong, vibrant tenderness, "be not afraid, sweet one; look up, and tell me you will share my lot! Adolphus, trembling and blushing, toyed with the flower in his button-hole. It was her gift. She drew nearer to him; their eyes met; and with one yielding sigh he dropped his head upon her stalwart shoulder and whispered: "Yes!"—Harper's Bazaar.

BABY CONTEST OPEN BALLOTS IN DEMAND

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN THE CONTEST.

Five Shares of Stock In the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association Will be Given the Winner June 1—Value at Maturity Is $500 and It Is Non Assessable.

The polls for The Gazette contest for the babies is now open and the ballot will be found at the close of this article and will run until June 1, when the contest will close. Much interest is centered in The Gazette's offer to present the baby who gets the highest number of votes with $500 worth of stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association. It is a prize worth getting, for naturally it will be worth just half a thousand dollars. That will be a nice nest egg if kept at interest after maturity until the child becomes old enough to want to use it.

It will buy an education.

It will buy a building lot.

It will buy a piano and the lessons necessary to play upon it.

It is more than many people are able to save in a life time.

Of course all the mothers and fathers want it for their babe. How to get it is told below:

The polls opened this morning and will remain open until June 1. The baby that receives the most ballots in that time will receive a certificate calling for these five shares of stock. There are no dues to be paid, no assessments to be met, no installments to provide for. The stock stands for $500 in cash and on its maturity, which will be in nine and one-third years, the money will be ready. The prize is a handsome one—it is well worth winning and the conditions of the ballot are as follows:

From March 1 until June 1, a coupon will be printed in each issue of The Gazette.

Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor. Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

The baby who receives the largest number of votes will receive five shares of stock in the Rock County Building & Savings Association, cash value, $500 at maturity.

The contest will close June 1 at 9 p.m., and the stock will be delivered as soon as the count of votes is completed.

Any non-subscriber who will subscribe for The Gazette and pay in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

No voter can be transferred from one candidate to another after being registered in this office.

Candidates must not be more than three years of age March 1, 1895, and must live in Janesville.

THE BALLOT.

The Publishers of "The Janesville Gazette" will give 5 Shares of stock in the Rock County Building, Loan & Savings Association to the Baby who receives the largest number of ballots.

Of Janesville, Wis.

Very Queer Indeed.

Daily, hay, hourly experienced, are the sensations of the dyspeptic, nervous invalid. Ask him and he will tell you that it is well nigh impossible to describe them. Palpitations of the heart suggest—erroneously—that the organ is affected, bursting in the ears, a queer metallic taste in the mouth and tingling along the edges of the tongue, restless, broken slumber at night, an inclination to sleep during the day, which disappears when the recumbent posture is assumed, frequent uneasiness of the stomach between 5 and after meals when digestion ought to have performed its office. These are a few among the inflictions of the complaints speedily removable by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also cures and prevents chills and fever, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, neuralgia and kidney trouble.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they do, from hysteria, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another with pain in the head, there, and in this way they all present to their easy-going doctor, separate diseases, for which he prescribes, assuming them to be single, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have promptly cured the disease.

Mrs. HARRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Jefferson Co., N.Y., writes: "For two years I was a sufferer. A part of this time had to be carried from my bed. Was racked with pain, had hysteria, was very nervous, no appetite and completely discouraged. A few bottles of Favorite Prescription effected a perfect cure." Sold by all dealers in medicines.

For two years past he has devoted all his energies to the work of the association and has succeeded in enrolling the names of over 12,000 survivors of the battle on the association's membership list. He was only 17 years of age when he entered the army and was twice wounded in a charge at Jackson, Miss. It was largely through Colonel Lee's efforts that congress was induced to purchase the Shiloh battlefield for a national park.

The French President's Wife.

It was nearly 30 years ago, on July 10, 1865, that Felix Faure, the same who is now president of the republic of France, was married to Mlle. Mathilde Belluot, daughter of a solicitor and niece to Senator Guinot of Amboise, in the department of Indre-et-Loire. She was then a brilliant blonde, with sparkling coal black eyes and raven hair. Today, although now some two or three years ago. He ran away from home when a lad of 15 and went west to make his fortune. In 1856 he became a traveling man, and, by the time the civil war broke out, had settled down in business for himself at Bloomington, Ills. He served through the war and retired with the rank of brevet brigadier general. Then he was admitted to the bar at Bloomington. In 1868 he was elected to the Illinois state senate and served four terms. In 1872 he was sent to Washington as a representative in Congress. As an organizer he has always stood well in Illinois, his work first on the Clover Leaf railroad system and afterward on the Wabash being of the highest order.

Two daughters have been born to M. and Mme. Faure—Lucie and Antoinette. Antoinette is married, and Lucie's engagement to M. Paul Deschanel, a journalist and member of the chamber of deputies, was recently announced.

DETAILS OF THE WARDROBE.

It takes almost as much material for sleeves as for a skirt.

It takes as much material now to make a modish pair of sleeves as it took a few years ago to make a fashionable skirt, when the latter was tight and scant so as to cling closely to the figure. The newest sleeve, if properly cut, drapes itself in full, rich folds to within an inch or two of the wrist, thus making the forearm appear larger than the tight, deep cuffs that are usually worn. The increasing of the girth of the forearm of course reduces the apparent size of the hand.

The most fashionable sleeve requires four yards of material, if it is narrow, as much is wasted in the cutting. Figured stuffs also entail waste, as the pattern must run in the same direction and be properly matched. Sleeves of different fabric from the dress are still in great vogue, but there is a disposition among the best modistes to return the old regime and to make the gown all of one stuff, with the exception of the revers and trimming.

Paste buttons are greatly in vogue with all kinds of dresses, from the tailor made to the airy ball gown. With the former they are generally set on at the bend of the waist, below the bust, three at each side and are extremely smart.

The contrasting waist still continues in popularity and has become modified, until it is a perfect fitting bodice waist, elaborately garnished. A waist for street wear is made of figured material, with sleeves of plain goods of the same color, and an extremely wide collar and lapels of velvet, either in black or matching the prevailing color in the figured fabric.

Shoulder ruffles are less favored than heretofore, and a modification in the way of puffs is introduced. There are wide collars, extending lapel fashion out over the sleeve tops, and ending at the bust, or, in some cases, extending to the waist line.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONABLE DRESS SKIRTS

Little Change In the Style, but They Are Extensively Gored.

The secret of the cut of the new skirts lies in the proper proportioning of the gores and in the skillful little darts that make the upper part fit smoothly round the hips and at the waist line. Tweed 42 inches wide is good economy, or single width stuff at 22 inches. The wide material is the more economical, as if the material be plain, or with a pattern that can be turned up or down, a great saving is secured. All the skirt pieces must be cut into gores, each width making two of these shaped pieces. The front breadth is an exception, as the fold goes in front, making the center, the sides being sloped away to join to the next gores. The selvages of all the gores are turned toward the back, and the back seam is sloped on both sides. Three and a half widths of 42 inch material will make a skirt, which consists of seven distinct pieces. There is first the front, a side gore for each side and four gores for the back. If silk be used or any 22 inch material, it is a little wasteful, as each breadth would make a gore by sloping off one side. The lining fits better if it be cut exactly the size of each gore, tacked together and then seamed together, but many people can manage to make the lining separate from the skirt and tack them top and bottom. In this case the skirt breadths are arranged before the back seam is joined, and then the seam of four ply keeps the skirt from dropping in the center. Crepon and all materials likely to stretch should be lined breadth by breadth.

SPRING COSTUME.

The gown shown in the sketch has a godet skirt of brocade silk, black and white on a straw ground. The bodice is entirely covered with jet and is trimmed with straw ribbon arranged in yoke shape, with a bertha of loops. The belt is also of straw ribbon, fastening on the left side with a bow, one end of which drops upon the skirt and is fastened near the foot with a large knot. The sleeves are of brocade and the draped collar of straw satin.

"Average" Verdicts Illegal.

Mount Pleasant, Iowa, April 18.—A new trial was granted in a case by Judge Eichelberger on the ground that the verdict was a "quotient" verdict, and therefore illegal. The jurors differed as to the amount of damages to allow. Accordingly each one voted what he considered right. These sums were added up and the total divided by twelve, and this sum returned as the verdict.

Will Discuss the Coal Situation.

Joliet, Ill., April 18.—Representatives of all the leading coal companies in Illinois are making a tour of the Williamson coal district and will hold a meeting here to-day.
